Part III Reading Comprehension(每小题 2 分 , 共 50 分)

After reading the following passage, you will find 5 questions or unfinished statements, numbered 41 through 65. For each question or statement there are 4 choices marked A B, C and D. You are required to make the correct choice.

Task 1 (每小题 2 分 , 共 10 分)

Questions 41 to 45 are based on the following passage:

There are many ways to help improve your health like eating healthy food. Taking exercise and getting medical help. But the easiest and cheapest way to improve your health is just to sleep eight hours or more every night. The general sleeping rule is that the younger you are, the longer sleep you need. But regardless of(不管)age, some people need to sleep more while for some a few hours is enough.

The problem with sleep is that more and more people in the world are not sleeping enough. According to the World Health Organization over half the people in the world may be sleep deprived. Having less sleep not only makes people feel tired but also causes accidents. In the United States alone, sleepy drivers cause at least 100,000 traffic accidents a year. Also sleep problems can cause medical problems such as high blood pressure(血压).

Why are so many people sleep-deprived? Part of the reasons may be cultural. In the American culture, people put a higher value on work than on sleep. In fact, people who sleep a lot are usually seen as "lazy". Also, you can sometimes hear some people say proudly that they don't have much time to sleep.

they only sleep four or five hours a night. It seems that the less you sleep, the more work you' ll do.

How do we teach these people to learn the value of sleep?

Perhaps they may listen to the advice of Dr. James Maas an expert (专家) in sleep. He says, "Sleep is like a credit (信用卡) card. When you sleep less, you are only borrowing time. You always have to pay it back. The more hours you don' t sleep, the more hours you should t sleep to 'pay back' the hours on your 'sleep credit card.' "

For those who value work more than sleep, they should listen to what a famous person once said. "Don' t think you will be doing less work because you sleep during the night. That is a foolish(愚蠢的) idea which is held by people who have no imagination. You will be able to do more."

41. According to the writer, the easiest and cheapest way to improve health is to.

A.eat healthy food every day

B. take exercise as much as possible

C. get medical help whenever necessary

D. sleep eight hours or more every night

42. What does "sleep-deprived" mean in Paragraph 2?

A. Having a good sleep.

B. Excited about sleep.

C. Having less sleep.

D. Interested in sleep.

43. According to Dr. James Maas. what is sleep like?

A. An hour.

B. A report.

C. A credit card.

D. A piece of paper.

44. What do the words of the famous person mean in Paragraph 5?

- A. Sleeping during the night is foolish.
- B. Sleeping during the night is helpful.
- C. People have no courage.
- D. People always do less work.

45. What is the best title of the passage?

- A. The Value of Sleep
- B. The Value of Study
- C. The Ways of Eating Less
- D. The Ways of Making Money

Task 2 (每小题 2 分, 共 10 分)

Questions 46 to 50 are based on the following passage:

Cai Lun invented paper around 2, 000 years ago in China. It is an important invention. Before the invention of paper, people had to remember lots of information or write it on stone, wood, leaves,etc.

Today everyone in the world uses paper. With paper, we can make books and print newspapers. Sharing information is a lot easier with the help of paper.

People use paper every day. Students do homework and keep a diary on paper. Paper is a great invention.

Alan Turing was born in London, England, in 1912. He attended Cambridge University from 1931 to 1934. Turing was a mathematician(数学家)and a computer scientist.

Many people called Turing the father of computer science. He created the first design(设计) for a modern computer.

Turing wanted to know if a machine could think for itself and trick someone into believing they were having a conversation with another person. This became known as the Turing test. In the test, a human talked to two other people through a computer. One was a machine, and the other was person.

This idea is still used today.

46. When was paper invented by Cai Lun?

Task 3 (每小题 2 分 , 共 10 分)

Questions 51 to 55 are based on the following passage:

People like different colors. Girls like pink or purple. Boys usually like blue or brown. Why do people like different colors? Do you want to know the secrets of colors?

People like different colors because of their cultures and countries. For the Egyptians (埃及人) green is the color that shows the hope and joy of spring. For Muslims (穆斯林), green means heaven(天堂). Red is a symbol of good luck in many cultures. In China, children are given money in a red envelope. Chinese people think red can bring good luck to them in the New Year. In some countries, blue is a symbol of protection. Greek people often wear blue necklaces in order to protect themselves.

Choosing colors also has something to do with their bodies' reaction toward them. Green is said to be the most relaxing color. It can help people feel relaxed. Red can make a person's blood pressure(血压) go up and improve people's appetites (胃口). Many restaurant owners will decorate(装饰)their restaurants with red things. Red is also a color that can catch a person's eye easily. That is why some shopping websites always have red "BUY NOW" buttons (按键). Blue is another calming color. Unlike red, blue can make people eat less. So if you want to lose weight, using blue bowls and plates may be helpful.

51. Why do many restaurant owners like to use red things to decorate their restaurants?
